

		key beneficial use category
		drinking water supply	fish & shellfish consumption	recreation		habitats & ecosystems
				REC-1	REC-2
water body types or water bodies of this importance to the key beneficial use category	HIGH (unanimous)	DW RESERVOIRS	OCEAN	OCEAN	OCEAN SAN DIEGO BAY MISSION BAY	OCEAN SAN DIEGO BAY LAGOONS / ESTUARIES STREAM SYSTEMS high	groundwater	San Diego Bay Mission Bay	Mission Bay	harbors lagoons / estuaries	Mission Bay stream mouths medium	xx	harbors lagoons / estuaries	San Diego Bay harbors	stream mouths stream systems	ponds harbors areas of special importance to the key beneficial use category	drinking water reservoirs directly connected to treatment & distribution systems - especially parts of such reservoirs from which water is taken for treatment & distribution to consumers	areas intensively used for subsistence take of fish &/or shellfish	waters at sandy beaches open to the public for REC-1	waters & shorelines at sandy beaches open to the public for REC-1	designated areas with special protections for fish, wildlife, habitats &/or ecosystems areas for which fish &/or shellfish consumption advisories have been issued because of anthropogenic bioaccumulative substances			waters & shorelines at, in, or visible from designated recreation areas (e.g., parks)	areas with habitats / ecosystems of special importance &/or value aquifers intensively used for drinking water supply - especially parts of such aquifers from which water is taken for treatment & distribution to consumers			waters & shorelines visible from other "walkable" areas open to the public	areas used (or potentially used) by a special status or sensitive species	