

My District, under contract operates and maintains a WWTP for the Chumash Tribe here in Santa Ynez. The federal government has required them to have a Grade III operator. Two of our other employees have been trained to operate that plant, but I understand that the State does not recognize a Tribe's plant, so the other two guys can't get certified. Is there anything that might change in that regard in the future? Thank you.

