O P I N I O N

Application 7991 was filed June 26, 1934, by R. R. Young and George Bailey seeking to appropriate 0.05 cubic foot per second from Macks Creek, a tributary of Klamath River, for domestic purposes. It was protested by Kate Martin and Addie Ramus and efforts to adjust the protest informally having failed, the matter was set down for hearing at Yreka on January 9, 1935, later postponed to January 23, 1935. Of this hearing interested parties received due notice and all were represented except George Bailey.

On January 28th a letter was received from Mr. Bailey withdrawing from the application and his name has accordingly been stricken from the record as a party in interest.

After the hearing was convened, but before the taking of any testimony, the parties reached an informal agreement under the terms of which -

1. Applicant reduced his application from 0.05 cubic foot per second to 3000 gallons per day.

2. Applicant agreed to install at a point convenient of access to the protestants, and thereafter to maintain, a meter by which a record of diversions by him could be checked by the protestants.

3. Protestants withdrew their protest.

The application has been amended accordingly and the protest is deemed withdrawn.

O R D E R

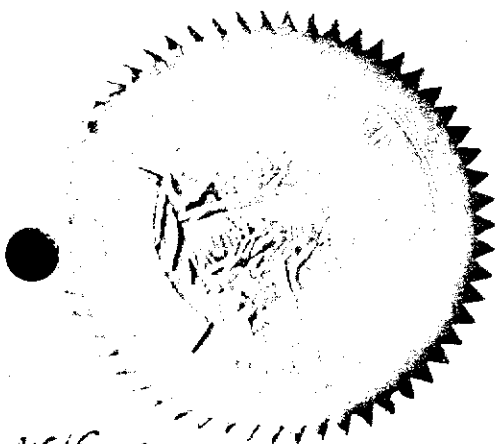

Application 7991 of R. R. Young having been filed with the Division of Water Resources, it having been completed and duly noticed as prescribed by the law and the rules and regulations of the Division of Water Resources, the application having been protested, a hearing on said protest having been duly noticed and held, and said protest having been withdrawn:

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that said Application 7991 be approved and that a permit be granted thereon subject to the usual terms and conditions and subject to such special terms and conditions as may be appropriate.

WITNESS my hand and the seal of the Department of Public Works of the State of California this 4th day of February, 1935.
